160	First off, I think the senior center has the perception to everyone of being for the very elderly in town. They need to completely revamp it to draw active adults. I think when creating a new center, it should be combined with a general community center, and not isolate seniors the way they do. In my opinion they should seriously consider using the building that is presently used for the recreation department, remodel and expand it, and turn that into a community/senior center. It is in a perfect location- close to shopping, dining, town services, and the library. I think exercise equipment should also be put in the rec department as it is in Fairfield. They should offer all town residents exercise programs as they do in Fairfield, and not just isolate the senior exercise programs from the regular town offerings. Please consider merging both the community center and senior center. It would be a mistake to separate them. You need to think outside the box!!!! If the town is going to pay the head of parks and rec some exorbitant salary, then that person needs to do something BIG!! I think active adults like myself would be willing to pay for better and more attractive services and offerings.	8/27/2015 2:30 PM
161	Interesting programs NYC cultural and entrtainment trips	8/27/2015 2:26 PM
162	Nothing - I guess because I'm still a full time employee, I'm not ready to concede that I would enjoy a senior citizen's facility.	8/27/2015 2:20 PM
163	More interesting programs; Ffld. Senior Center has a lot of lectures, workshops, etc. that I see advertised in the paper. Might take note of all they have to offer. They, also, use the services of professors from local universities to present programs; other professionals to lead workshop seminars or just lecture. Perhaps it could be updated to include a coffee bar, lounge, etc. where people could just gather to visit and have a cup of coffee; don't always need an activity.	8/27/2015 2:18 PM

169	Entertainment (music) or lectures but with enough availability for one to participate. My husband makes a contribution to the Center but if we decide near to the time of the event, there is never availability. I do not find the people very hospitable. There are many groups who behave as if they own the Center because they use it all the time and do not welcome "outsiders" who join. That is how i felt when I tried to participate in zumba a few years ago.	8/27/2015 2:12 PM

227	Its equally what would not be offered. If the intent is to provide a welcoming atmosphere where people can meet, converse, enjoy a snack and or beverage, and learn or discuss current town events thats good. If intended to be a "health club" for old people thats not good. The emphasis should be on the social and or learning side not the physical side.	8/20/2015 11:41 AM

246	maybe they should seek a feature article in The Trumbull Times and be more proactive re publicity. I heard today that Monroe has lowered eligibility to 55 and that they are superior to Trumbull with classes, trips, etc. having your friends recommend or "word of mouth" endorsements are the best. I never hear about the Trumbull Center. Why is that? Must not. E worthwhile.	8/19/2015 6:55 PM
